Garrison Village Art Exhibition

Produced by St. Martin's Primary School as part of the PEACEPLUS-funded WEST project

These colourful art pieces were created by pupils of St. Martin's P.S. as part of the outreach programme for the Water Enhancements through Sustainable Treatment (WEST) project.

The WEST project is a cross-border initiative being delivered by NI Water in partnership with Uisce Éireann. The project aims to contribute to improved water quality in Lough Melvin, Lough Erne and Donegal Bay through sustainable upgrades to wastewater treatment works in Garrison, Belleek, Blacklion and Ballybay.

In Garrison, a nature-based treatment solution - using reed beds - is being constructed which will enhance Lough Melvin and serve the village for many years to come.

In June 2026, P5 and P6 pupils explored themes of wastewater, nature and environmental responsibility as part of the WEST outreach programme.

Together, with the help of local artist Michelle Duffy, the children created 30 individual canvases as well as one large collaborative piece entitled: "Protect Lough Melvin" which has been placed in the front window of Garrison Community Hub.

Their artwork - a selection of which you can see here - celebrates the beauty of Garrison and the importance of protecting the natural environment, including Lough Melvin.

As you view the fantastic artwork created by local children and reflect on the beauty of this area, please remember the simple things that you can do to help protect the wastewater infrastructure serving Garrison and in turn, the water quality in Lough Melvin (only flush 3Ps and never dispose of FOG down sinks).

Thanks to St. Martin's P.S., Michelle Duffy (Camlake Canvas), local businesses and Garrison Community Hub for their assistance in this WEST outreach project.
